Check out Mr. Brown's Green Hair!

Read Every Day (R.E.D.) - November Challenge

Park Falls Elementary students exceed their November Read Every Day Challenge of 1500 hours and read 1803 hours. One of our teachers, Mr. Eric Brown, challenged students to read 1500 hours. If they read 1500 hours, he would dye his hair green for the month of December. During the assembly the librarian, Mrs. Michelle Byholm, asked if he would dye his goatee green, too. It was decided if students read an additional 200 hours, he would dye both his hair and goatee. Mr. Brown is pictured with Mrs. Carrie Olson's kindergarten students. He has both green hair and a goatee. A big thanks to Mr. Brown and his support in the importance of reading for all students.

One morning before school, students Dropped Everything and Read to add to our November Reading Hours. One hundred twenty-seven students read for twenty minutes or a total of 42 hours!

The December R.E.D. Challenge is looking for the class with the most reading hours in 4K - 2nd grade and 3rd - 5th grade.

Number Talks Coaching

The Mathematics Institute of Wisconsin specialist were in classrooms on December 12th and 13th demonstrating Number Talks for all elementary grade levels. Then each teacher presented a number talk to their class and the math specialist provided coaching on what was working and how to improve.
